Formulating Questions

Inquiry Project #1 - Global Settlements

STEP 1:

- Formulate questions to guide your research. You have been given two prompts to inspire your specific questions that will guide your inquiry. Come up with as many specific questions that you can think.

- Based on the prompt you have chosen, finish the following sentences.

I wonder if...

I wonder how...

This topic makes me think of...

Gathering & Organizing Research Inquiry Project #1 - Global Settlements

STEP 2:

- Collect research from a variety of sources.

- Put the research into your OWN WORDS
(this means making your own notes!)

- Organize your research and data from a variety of sources. You may start to organize it into headings as you will have to for step 4.

- Place all of your research notes into your duotang for Ms. Sharpe to review.

- Begin your draft list of sources that you are using for research. You must have at least 5 sources from the following categories. Check that you are writing down your sources in correct bibliography form.

1. _____ (book)

2. _____ (website)

3. _____ (website)

4. _____ (media)

5. _____ (choice)

Making Connections
Inquiry Project #1 - Global Settlements

STEP 3:

- Describe the connections between the physical environment and why you are drawn to this location. You may want to use the Venn diagram below to outline the physical features of your location vs. what you are looking for in a location . Anything that matches can be written in the middle.

- What personal connections can you make to this location?

- Why do you feel this is the best choice for yourself?

Analyzing Your Decision Factors Inquiry Project #1 - Global Settlements

STEP 4:

- Analyze how the following factors impact your decision:
 - Trends and patterns in human settlement
 - Physical environment
 - Weather and natural climate
 - Employment
 - Education
 - Food
 - Housing
 - The cost of living
 - Safety
 - Health services
 - Pollution
 - Transportation
 - Technology
 - Personal connection to this place

- Use one of the attached graphic organizers OR create your own and attach it to your rough drafts. You may find it helpful to make a "bubble" for each heading. You may choose to merge some of the topics above into one "bubble".
